The New Building

This building, completed and occupied in November 1952, will always hold a special spot in our hearts. It is new, modern, and beautiful, and it was built just for us. From its auditorium our seniors will graduate; in its main hall freshmen will be welcomed. We will remember it always, because it is ours.

In Memoriam

Faye Callahan

A Former Classmate and Friend

Senior Class History

September of 1942, a group of frightened little children eased up the steps of the Ulysses Grade School. Of those who began that exciting role as first graders, Betty Elliott, Berna Deane Bonsall, and Maurice Eddie are the only originals to finish high school here.

Through the second and third grades, there were no additions or subtractions, but at the close of the third grade, Maurice Eddie decided to try his luck in Washington. At the same time, Wanda Carter, who had just finished the third grade in California, decided to try her luck in Ulysses, so she stepped in to fill Maurice's shoes. Lela Hampton also joined the class this year.

The first semester of the fifth year finds Maurice Eddie returning. Evidently everything didn't go so well in Washington. Others to enroll that year were Leah Jean Cheek, Josandra Heymna, Walter McClure, and last, but not least, Mary Webber. This jolly little party fit right in.

The sixth grade brought several nice surprises: Burnus Goodwin from Tennessee, a girl from Stafford, Phillis Lessig, and Joan Silva.

Thus they passed on to the seventh where they were lucky enough to add Bill Lozar and Leon Hampton to this happy and growing group. All passed from the seventh on to the eighth, where Dale Gish and Larry Elliott joined the class.

On the 18th of May, thirty-three starry-eyed youngsters were graduated from their childhood days of grade school.

In September of 1949, a group of confident adolescents enrolled as freshmen in high school. New class members were: Gladys Ann Hennigh, Wayne Christian, Nancy Kennedy, Faye Callahan, Annabel Ladner, John Ladner, Bill and Bob Herman, Kenneth Howard, Bert Casey, and Glenda Priest.

Even though the first year of high school was a bit difficult and some confidence was lost, everyone survived the first year to say goodbye to Phillis Lessig and Joan Silva.

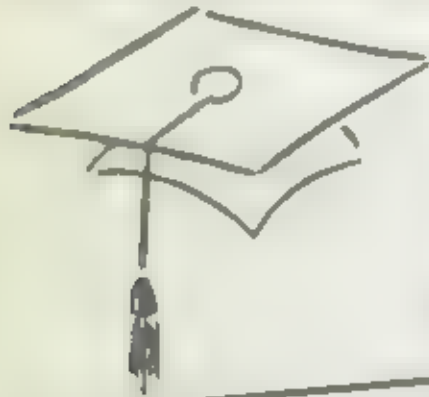

In spite of the loss, all managed to make it to the end of the year, when Lela Hampton left to become a housewife. The loss of a classmate, Faye Callahan, everyone's friend, brought much sorrow.

The first semester of the junior year, the only new addition was Jerry Pinkerton. Joan Silva returned to be with all her old friends. The second semester brought Larry Schuster, Deryl Schuster, Shirley Davidson, and Kay Schneider. The close of this year brought the loss of two more girls: Leah Jean Cheek took up the role of housewife, and Joan Silva blew off again.

And here is-----THE YEAR! Seniors, at last! The only member added was Larry Bates. LaNeve left to finish school in Wichita, and Joan Silva blew back again!

That brings us up to date. Baccalaureate and graduation over and the '41-53'ers are on their own. Here's wishing the best of luck to a pretty wonderful group of ex-students of GCRHS, from the underclassmen of your Alma Mater.

Their uniforms were black skirts, white blouses, black school sweaters, white socks, and saddle oxfords. At each home game, a section was roped off for Pep Club members, and in that section they rooted for the members of their team.

The Pep Club's activities this year included the Homecoming parade and queen crowning. October 24, several open air pep rallies during football season, and others in the gym. They also sponsored several all school parties.

Honored

Grads

Joxandra Heyman, Valedictorian
and
Member of National Honor Society

Gladys Ann Hennigh, Salutatorian
and
Member of National Honor Society

Citizenship awards were given to Gladys Ann Hennigh as Best-all-round-girl, and to John Ladner as Best-all-round-boy of the 1953 graduating class of Grant County Rural High School

The presentation of the above awards was made at Class Night ceremonies, May 19, 1953, following the program prepared and presented by the seniors.

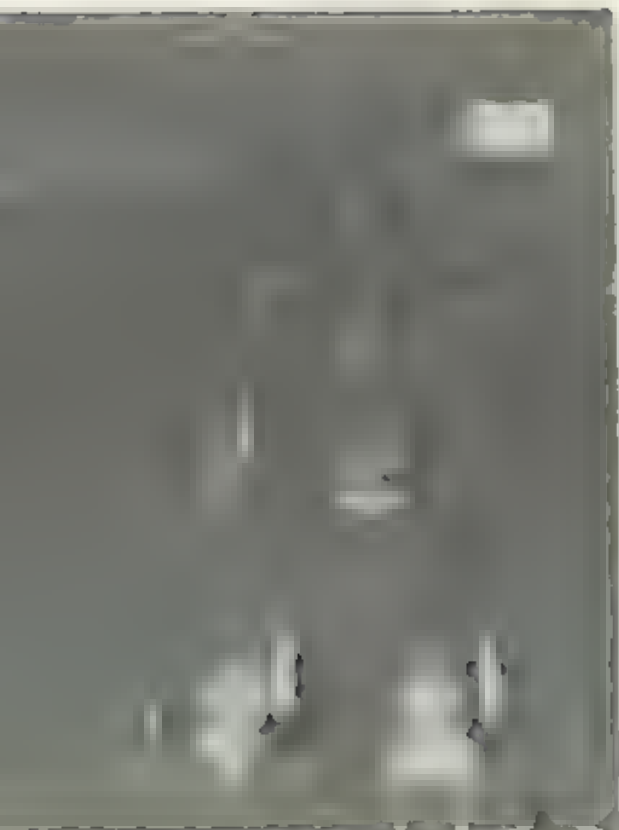

The Class Prophecy was first on the seniors' agenda. It took the audience 20 years into the future to the front porch of the Goodwin home in Tennessee. The Goodwins, Burnus and Betty (Elliott), received a letter from a former teacher of their high school days, Mrs. Gillett, when Deryl "U S Mail Man" Schuster brought them their weekly mail. The letter, which they read with much ado, brought them up to date on the where-abouts and occupations of their former classmates. These ranged all the way from chasing butterflies in Texas to chasing men in Rome. Some of the '53 seniors even became well known, like the twins who sailed their saucer to Mars, and the fellow who got to empty wastebaskets in our nation's capitol. The 1953 audience got a look at the grads in 1973 as each one acted out a part of his particular future.

Wanda Carter then gave all a glimpse into the past when she read the History of the Class. Then Joxandra Heyman read the Last Will And Testament of the '53 Senior Class, which concluded the seniors' Class Night activities.

"We, the seniors of 1953, leave our blessings upon this school and all of it's teachers, and our pledge of friendship, always."
